ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

Life's Little Irritations.

I've touched full many foreign ports,
From Pinjib to Gungella,
But I never saw it rain the day
That I fetched my umbrella!
I've been from Jayburg to Oshkosh,
From Cork to Java, nearly,
But I never heard a "classic" song,
With every word spoke clearly.
I've been from Hong Kong to Shanghai,
From Pekin to Hung Fooye,
But I never saw a Chinaman
Who liked to eat chop suey!

Gov. McCreary was 76 years old yesterday.

M. D. Blanding was drowned while crossing the Elkhorn.

Mrs. L. C. Hibler of Hazard is in Maysville on a short-business trip.

Mrs. Ed Staton of Tollesboro was the pleasant guest yesterday of her nephew, Preston Tully, of West Second street.

CAMDEN AND JAMES

Must Reach Agreement on Distribution of Kentucky Patronage.

Washington.—Senators James and Camden, of Kentucky, are facing the necessity of reaching an agreement on the distribution of Kentucky patronage heretofore since the Wilson Administration came into power Senator James has been the "whole thing" in the matter of distributing the leaves and fishes for the State of Kentucky, but Senator Camden, being of the same political faith and an ardent supporter of President Wilson, has demanded consideration.

Under political rules the Senators are entitled to make the appointments for the Tenth and Eleventh Congressional Districts, which are now represented in Congress by Republicans.

QUICK WORK

Loss On Building In Rear of The White Hall Burned Yesterday, Adjusted This Morning.

The fire from unknown origin which caused considerable excitement yesterday at noon in the rear of the White Hall Hotel entailed a loss upon the hotel people and Frank Vines, plumber. The adjusters, Mr. Rickers and Rogers of Louisville are on the scene and adjusted the loss this morning; on property about $100 and on furniture $50. W. H. Key's agency for Springfield and American Central held the risk.

$500 FIRE LOSS YESTERDAY

A Blaze On the Lexington Pike—Small Boy and Matches the Combustion

At noon yesterday a fire originating in a coal house attached to a small frame house on the south side of the Lexington pike consumed the building and wrecked the furniture.

The house was an old affair and belonged to Moses Holmes of Cincinnati, and was occupied by Charles Jackson. A little boy about 4 years old and some older lads were firing the grass on the hill above the house, and Robert Commodore stepped in the coal house to have a fire all his own. He had it. The Kinney Mac responded to the call but the house was too far gone to be saved. It was a total loss. Insured for $500 by the Sulser, Mathews Co. agency.

MARRIED 60 YEARS

Parents of Mr. Walter Swisher of This City Celebrated Remarkable Event.

(Ripley Bee.)

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Swisher celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding last Saturday, July 4.

The worthy couple received many congratulations on the happy occasion. There are very few couples in this vicinity who have lived to celebrate the sixtieth year of their married life, in fact we cannot recall a single instance just now. Both are in good health and bid fair to live to celebrate many more anniversaries.

Their three sons, Charles, of Cincinnati; Walter, of Maysville, Ky., and Ed of this place, and their families were with them on the occasion.

D. HECHINGER & CO.

Maysville's Best Clothing and Shoe Store.

As an evidence that our "ADS" are believed by the reading public, we sold the past week more suits than any week since May. We don't say this boastfully for the prices we are realizing in many instances barely cover cost, however we deem it better "to turn Merchandise into cash" than to carry the stock over into next season. Please remember the Price Reducing Sale closes next Saturday night. A good many of the suits in this sale are sufficiently heavy for fall wear and precisely the same style as will be worn next season.

The river is fast receding—Maysville's beach is again the Mecca for water lovers. A full complement of Bathing Suits found here. Our Japanese Tokio Crepe Shiris are just the thing for this temperature. If you have not yet seen them come and let us show them to you.

ANNUAL GASOLINE BILL.

(Chicago Journal.)

It is estimated that there are approximately 1,000,000 automobiles in use in this country, and that they consume $100,000,000 worth of gasoline in a year.

To keep our tailors in work in order to hold them until fall trade opens we will make to order a reasonable number of suits at from $28.50 to $35.00—Cash. These prices mean $35.00 to $45.00 suits. Every garment made in our shop.

Henry promised to be good and left the State with Mrs. Nelching No. 1. Mrs. Nelching asks for complete separation and restoration of her former name, Mrs. Emma Harrison. LIQUOR SHIPMENTS

Into Dry Territory Upheld By Opinion of Circuit Judge Tracy of Kenton County.

An express company can be compelled to receive and ship whisky from a wet territory to a dry territory, according to a ruling handed down by Circuit Judge Tracy at Covington, Wednesday morning in the case of Crigler & Crigler Co. against the Adams Express Co. Several weeks ago the Crigler & Crigler Co. addressed eight quarts of whisky labeled "Personal Use," to a man in Williamsburg, Whitley County, Ky. The express company refused to receive the whisky. The wholesale liquor dealers filed a suit, asking that the express company be compelled to ship the liquor. A demurrer was filed and the case was held in abeyance until Wednesday, when Judge Tracy overruled the demurrer and stated that the express company must receive and ship the goods. When the demurrer was filed the express company claimed that it was not allowed to ship whisky from a "wet" to a "dry" territory. The decision is of widespread interest in this and other States.

The sugar beet farmers will receive seventy-five cents a ton less for their beets this year, thanks to the Democratic tariff.

The passage of the canal tolls exemption repeal bill may be a "great victory" for the Administration, as is claimed, but it is a greater victory for Great Britain.

The "Washington party," as the Progressive party in Pennsylvania is known, declares in its recently adopted platform that the party stands for protection and that the tariff is a matter of business, not politics.

Primaries continue to come high. The recent primary election in Pennsylvania cost the State not less than $500,000. It is stated that, on this basis, the State will pay one dollar or more for each vote cast, and only about one-half of those entitled to vote did so while the non-voting part was that for which the direct vote and secret ballot were chiefly intended.

Ex-Senator Edmunds is hopeful that the present wave of radicalism now sweeping over the country will ultimately spend its force. "I am not depressed by what is going on," continued the aged statesman in conclusion. "It will all come out right. Human history and experience teach that things go around in cycles. We are troubled with an epidemic of emotion among people who don't stop to reflect. Radical doctrines are merely a sign of the times. Some day there will be a further swing around the cycle and then you will see a change."

By a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, in what is known as the Shreveport case, the authority of the Federal Government to regulate interstate commerce through the Interstate Commerce Commission is made supreme. State laws and orders of State commissions conflicting with the Federal laws must give way and vexatious orders or regulations promulgated by the State authorities as burdens on interstate commerce can be set aside by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Who has said of late, anything about Democratic economy? Certainly it is not in evidence. The appropriations of the present Congress will exceed a billion dollars. The Treasury is running short on revenue about $500,000 a day. The returns from the income tax will fall many millions short of the amount that it was expected to yield; and gold is being exported at an alarming rate. Yet the business leaders in Washington are proceeding with work of destruction regardless of consequences.

IDLE THOUGHTS.

Potatoes come from Germany,
And beef from Argentine,
Yet still the U. S. workman
Is growing very lean.
Why sing to him of bargain pants,
Marked at "One-ninety-two,"
When on his uppers he goes round,
Without a thing to do?

J. W., in American Economist.

Referring to the continued assaults upon business at Washington, the New York Sun urges the business interests of the country to combine for mutual protection; and adds: "What can be more appropriate, more logical, more useful? Must business alone be silent and supine when business interests are involved in legislation?"

TEDDY CONTINUES INDISCREET.

Col. Roosevelt's attack upon District Attorney Whitman foreshadows a Democratic victory in New York, unless, through unexpected concessions the Progressives and Republicans fuse upon some candidate for governor other than Mr. Whitman. Tammany is well pleased, of course, with the Colonel's attack upon Whitman. It would be glad to see him attack other Republicans, one by one, and thus widen the breach between Republicans and Progressives.—Washington Post.

YOUR UNCLE SAM A GOOD DOCTOR.

While many more or less weighty objections have been urged against the creation of a federal department of health and the demands of prominent members of the American Medical Association for compulsory physical examination of every citizen once a year and the performance of kindred functions have been protested against as too radical, there is surely nobody who does not glory in the magnificent work done by the public health service, under direction of the Treasury Department, and favor its liberal support by Congress.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

AN AUTHORITY ON THE DOUBLE LIFE.

Nat C. Goodwin, the eminent comedian, reproached, at an after-theater supper in New York, a bachelor for his bachelorhood.

"The idea!" Mr. Goodwin said. "A rich, handsome chap like you a bachelor! Why, don't you know a bachelor is only half a man!"

"No, I don't," was the reply. "Only half a man, indeed! Give me any logical reason for calling a bachelor only half a man and I'll go and get married to-morrow."

Mr. Goodwin stroked his chin and smiled.
"A bachelor, my dear boy," he said, "is only half a man, because it is impossible, till he weds, for him to lead a double life."

WEEKLY SPORT LETTER.

(By C. H. ZUBER.)

Cincinnati, July 8, 1914.
Manager Herzog, of the Reds, has decided upon a new policy for building up his team. His three months of experience as manager of the Reds has shown him that nothing is to be gained by holding on to players who have passed the zenith of their usefulness and are approaching the Has-Been horizon. So he has adopted the plan of developing youngsters for the team—youngsters who will improve right along instead of carrying a bunch of old-timers who are going back in every game they play. With this idea in mind Herzog is playing Lohr, a Philadelphia semi-pro, and LaRoss, a recruit from Michigan, in his outfield in the places of the veterans, Bates and Miller. He also has added a third young fielder to his line-up in the person of McLaughlin, a college youth from Geneva, N. Y., who is said to be the speediest man in baseball today. Herzog also has added a new first baseman from the Virginia League to his prospects, and has lined out for several additional stars from the minors, all of whom will receive more consideration from "Buck" than is usually accorded recruits for the reason Herzog is fully determined to get together a bunch of hustling beginners instead of carrying around a string of old boys whose ambition is on the wane.
The second series of the eastern teams in the West now is on, and there will be much dope created as to the final wind-up of the season through this bunch of games.

That the racing game is getting more honest all the time was shown during the meeting at Latonia, which closed on Saturday. In years past it was the big betters with the "inside information" who won most of the coin. During the last Latonia meeting it was a notable fact that the men who make a profession of wagering on the races were the chief losers, while the little fellows—the $2 to $5 betters—got most of the kale. The meeting, as a whole, was a success and indicates that the popularity of racing is permanent.

Now they've matched Sam Langford, the Boston "tar baby," to fight Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship.

Well, we handed Johnny Bull one last week, when the second Harvard crew won the amateur rowing championship of the world on the Thames, defeating the crack crews of England, Germany, Italy, Belgium and other countries. And, in passing, it might be added that the second best crew of the lot also hailed from America, being the eight of the Boston Rowing Association. Interest in the international sport now centers on the performances of the yachts which will compete for the America's Cup in August. On the other side the new Shamrock IV has defeated all comers, while in American waters the Resolute, the Vanitie and the Defiance now are going through the official tests for the honor of defending the cup. The recent races of the trio off Sandy Hook indicated that the Resolute was the better boat; but it will require the official trial races, now going on off Newport, to bring about the final selection.

Violence marked the elections for city and provincial councils which have been going on throughout Italy the past few days.

Yorio S. Ware, former chairman of the Sixth District Democratic Campaign Committee, will be the new postmaster at Covington.

The Simplon tunnel, near Brigue, Switzerland, was inundated by a subterranean stream which burst through the retaining wall.

The reprimand which President Wilson ordered for Brig. Gen. Robert K. Evans will take the form of a letter from Secretary Garrison.

BANKERS RECEIVE OFFER

Of Treasury Department To Loan Funds For Crop Movement.

Cincinnati national banks received a letter from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo on the subject of placing of Government funds to help the crop movement this year.

The letter asks for information on the need of help in this district this year, the periods when the help would be needed most and what character of securities, in the opinion of the bankers, the department should demand from the banks.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence.

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills almost every wish in over-coming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Maysville Daily Public Ledger.

IMMIGRATION TO U. S.

Biggest in History—Over 1,300,000 Foreigners Came To This Country in 1913.

Washington, D. C.—There was an increased immigration of over 200,000 people into the United States last year, according to Commissioner of Immigration Caminetti, who said that a total of 1,300,000 foreigners came to the United States to make their homes.

Included in the list were close to 10,000 Japanese. While this is not the largest number of Japanese ever admitted it is an increase over the previous year.

Approximately 270,000 Italians came to the United States last year. Next in numbers were the Jews, chiefly from Russia, with over 140,000, and after them came the Polish immigrants, over 130,000 strong.

FACT OUTWEIGHS THEORY

One Man Who Spends a Million Dollars More Abroad Than He Formerly Did.

(New York Journal.)

We are having our "Tariff reform," dearly beloved.

How do you like it?

Do you find that you can buy things any cheaper than you used to?

No, you don't, and you won't.

When Tariff reform takes 90 cents off the cost of cloth in a $15 suit of clothes, the maker of the clothes doesn't take 15 cents off the price.

But the buyer of the cloth gets it in England, or elsewhere, instead of buying it in America, made by American workmen.

If you question Mr. Wilson and other gentlemen to whom we owe our psychological prosperity, you will be told that the Tariff is a blessing, and that it does not hurt workmen.

When you next talk to Mr. Wilson, offer him a fact. There is one man in this country—others like him—who conducts a big business and gives away so-called souvenirs, usually pocket knives at country fairs.

This one individual spends for these souvenirs $250,000 a year. Hitherto, he has bought them in the United States—made by United States labor. Now he buys them in Germany.

He is bound, of course, to look after the interests of his company. And when the government of the United States makes it worth while for his company to buy of German workmen instead of workmen in America, the company does that.

Spending $1,000,000 a Year More Abroad.

He said to this writer the other day: "I don't pretend to discuss with able theorists, but I know that I, as one business man, am spending each year $1,000,000 more abroad than I was before they changed the Tariff."

It doesn't take very deep intelligence, gentle readers, to realize that if one man is giving to workmen in Europe each year a million dollars for wages and material that he spent here last year, workmen in America are getting less than they used to.

And if you multiply that million by a thousand it will be a reasonable estimate of a small part of what the Tariff will cost the American workman. So he is not surprised that prosperity has something the matter with its psychology.

P. S.—The name of the gentleman who brings $250,000 worth of souvenirs from Germany and who spends now for foreign labor one million annually that he spent previously for American labor will be gladly supplied to President Wilson, if he will write a note asking for it.

Five coaches of the Dixie Flyer left the tracks at Wauhatchie, Tenn., and four persons were slightly injured.

Every now and then you meet a man who seems to have no other objects in this world than to pay his life insurance.

TOBACCO CROP SHORT

Estimates Based on Returns From the Growing Sections Show That Drouth Has Done Great Damage Throughout the Burley Belt

Decrease of 64,115 Acres, or 6 Per Cent. Shown in 3 States

The reports of Cincinnati Enquirer correspondents in the various tobacco-producing counties of Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana and all of the tobacco-growing States indicate a total area planted to tobacco this year of 986,532 acres, as contrasted with 1,050,627 acres planted last year. This is a decrease of 64,115 acres or 6 per cent.

Calculations based on the average yield per acre for the past ten years, and taking into consideration the conditions prevailing at planting time in the various sections, a total production of tobacco in the United States in 1914 may be estimated at 815,101,000 pounds. This compares with a production of 960,353,850 pounds, estimated at planting time last season, indicating a decrease this year of 49,101,000 pounds, or nearly 6 per cent.

The Kentucky tobacco area, which is the largest in the world, will this year not exceed 329,840 acres, which will probably yield approximately 296,856,000 pounds of burley and dark type tobacco. Ohio and Indiana together this season planted only slightly more acreage than did Ohio alone last year, and the total production of both will be under that of 1913. North Carolina, the second largest tobacco-producing State, even with the inroads made by the drouth, reports a planting of 223,000 acres, 13,000 acres more than last year and the estimated yield is 133,800,000 pounds. The Virginia area is reduced 36,000 acres, as compared with last season and in West Virginia a falling off of 7,250 acres is indicated, the estimated production being correspondingly smaller. In Wisconsin the annual tendency to reduce the tobacco area is again in evidence and a reduction of 2,000 acres is reported, but with favorable weather conditions throughout the growing season the crop may be expected to weigh out nearly as heavy as last year, as the excessive rains during May and June will do much toward making for a heavy fibrous leaf.

The Burley Belt.

Throughout the burley belt there prevailed a variety of conditions, but most sections suffered from the prolonged drouth, which up to the time of this report has been broken but little. Farmers had planned to raise an enormous burley crop, and never before were the plant beds so large or so numerous as this year. The dry weather, however, retarded the growth of the young plants in the beds, and those which were set out early were literally baked in the ground. Even at the close of June many fields were still unplanted, and by that time the plants in the beds were too large to be transplanted. A very liberal estimate of the burley crop of 1914 may be made as follows: Kentucky, 171,020 acres; Indiana, 7,750 acres; Ohio 9,000 acres; West Virginia, and scattering sections, 10,000 acres; total, 197,770 acres. The total estimated burley acreage at planting time last season was 205,060 acres. Thus a decrease of 7,290 acres, or 3 per cent, is indicated. The harvested burley area in 1913 was 196,111 acres, and it is likely that the usual shrinkage of the crop during the growing season will still maintain the same relative decrease at harvesting time this year. The harvested area of burley in 1912 was 215,401 acres; 1911, 183,089 acres; 1910, 284,000 acres; 1909, 254,897 acres.

The average yield per acre in the burley tobacco section fluctuates between 900 and 1,000 pounds, and upon a basis of 925 pounds to the acre the burley yield of 1914 may be estimated at 182,937,250 pounds. The estimated burley yield last year at planting time was 189,680,500 pounds, and the heaviest yield was reported at 176,869,500 pounds. The harvest yield in 1912 was 205,131,000 pounds; 1911, 174,485,700 pounds; 1910, 258,478,000 pounds.

The Dark Sections.

The dark tobacco district of Kentucky combined with the scattering patches of this type raised in Indiana and Ohio, and the vast black patch in Tennessee has planted a total area of about 198,820 acres, as against an estimated area of 205,515 acres last year, making a decrease of 6,695 acres, or 3 per cent. Based on an average yield of 800 pounds to the acre, the black patch may be reasonably expected to produce this year 159,056,000 pounds. This is an apparent decrease in production of 5,365,000 pounds, or a little more than 3 per cent. These figures include the Henderson or Stemming District, Cumberland District, Upper Green River District, Paducah, Hopkinsville and Clarksville Districts. The type of dark tobacco grown is used principally for export to foreign tobacco monopolies.

STANLEY'S TALK

Second District Congressman Said He Made It "Too Damned Hot For Beckham To Stay With the L. & N."

Red Hot Democratic Billingsgate Mixed With Campaign Eloquence

Congressman Augustus Owsley Stanley, of Henderson, who is former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham's chief opponent for the Democratic Senatorial Primary nomination to be decided on Saturday August 1st, spoke here yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Courthouse to a large gathering. There was much Democratic enthusiasm on tap and the claqueurs whooped it up for Stanley to beat the band.

Mr. Stanley's Mason County friends had the Sardin Band on hand to enliven the happy occasion, and all in all the Democrats beat the bushes to a frazzle to drum out a crowd.

When Governor Beckham visited Maysville last month in his speech he handed Stanley and his record with out gloves and what he said about the former Fleming County boy orator was more than a plenty. Therefore the erstwhile trust buster and plutocrat buster was smarting under the cuts from the Beckham lash and eager for the chance to strike back.

This he did yesterday afternoon. Congressman Stanley was introduced to the Mason County militant democracy by Hon. A. Gordon Sulser, chairman of the Mason County Democratic Executive Committee. Mr. Sulser being quiet fluent and happy in handing Stanley many compliments and promises and referring to the Henderson statesman as the next United States Senator.

Stanley began his speech by saying he came not to Mason County to secure its vote for he felt that Mason County's vote was his already. He referred to the fact that he spoke in nearly every school house in Mason County 20 years ago, and to the friendships that he then formed. In a glowing tribute to the Democratic party he placed it next to the churches. (Now what do you think of that?) He said he had served his district 12 years in Congress and never had he in that time asked a man to vote for him.

He said the ballot was a solemn trust, it makes you a sovereign, an unswayed king. The man who sells his ballot prefers personal gain to the public good. If it is a disgrace to receive money secretly for a ballot it is not more so when a man is a party to the transaction indirectly.

He spoke of Beckham as a political Lazarus running at large to expose his sore spots. He did not object to Beckham exposing his sores but he did object to the Republican mongrels licking them. He said the Republican press had already elected Beckham. He objected to any Republican sticking his nose in "this Democratic mess," because a Republican could give no good reason for entering a Democratic Primary.

He paid his respects to the Lexington Leader and Louisville Herald. In the same paragraph he spoke of Daniel G. Reed, the chief director of the steel trust, recalled the time a tin pail was a tin pail and not a cast piece of sheet iron, and he, Stanley, was the man who exposed the Tin Trust for which favor Mr. Reed bought the Louisville Herald and through it fights him, Stanley, and supports Mr. Beckham.

He said John D. Rockefeller and Thos. Fortune Ryan muzzled Sam Shackleford and now Mr. Shackleford supports Mr. Beckham. Then Richard Knott, August Belmont and the L. & N. R. R. came in for a few scented bouquets. He said Mr. Beckham left the employ of the L. & N. R. R. because he (Stanley) had made it too hot for him.

In closing he requested the people to consider not Stanley nor Beckham but to consider what they represented and then vote for what they represent. He closed by paying a glowing tribute to President Wilson.

"JOY NIGHT" Maysville's Third Redpath Chautauqua Ends—A Success from Every Viewpoint

We Now Have "The Chautauqua Spirit" and Cannot Do Without It

Well, our third annual "Chaw-tau-qua" is a thing of the past and Maysville can well say we could not have spent a more enjoyable or a more profitable week.

The weather for the entire week was ideal, not a drop of rain to mar the event, no wind, no storms and no disorder. At times it was hot under the tent, but from the opening last Wednesday until the close last night when Manager H. C. Heffner said the last ringing and cheering words of "farewell and good luck next year," Beechwood Park was the theater of one grand sweet song of social, educational, religious and musical awakening and interest.

The chautauqua system of summer education cannot help but be uplifting and beneficial to any community. Show me a community wedded to the chautauqua habit and I will show you a place much in advance of the town that opposes the chautauqua.

Contrast the chautauqua plan of teaching and influence with the suggestive movies, the monkey tango and other so-called up-to-date forms of modern amusement.

There is not the least suggestion of civil connected with the American Chautauqua. It is all elevating, practical, highly moral and instructive, and cannot fail to uplift the individual and therefore the town, the city and the community.

Maysville has now had three most successful chautauqua seasons. Boosters are now hard at work selling tickets for next year's chautauqua and only 75 to 100 tickets remain unsold of the required 750 to clinch the event for 1915.

Will you not help? It would be hard indeed to find such a varied and high-class series of fun and instruction as is furnished by these chautauquas for $2. Think of it.

A Resume of the Past Week's Program. It is difficult in a column of type to enlarge upon the score of attractions making up the past week's program.

Every artist was a star and every number was of the most pleasing character, therefore we will merely remark that the vote seems to favor Dr. C. C. Mitchell, the Morning Lecturer, as being in the lead as a forceful and entertaining speaker.

Dr. C. C. Mitchell.

Dr. Mitchell is one of the men whom one can listen to more than once. He tells you the Truth so that the Truth can make you Free.

The Public Ledger announces that it will publish Dr. Mitchell's famous sermon, "Job, or the World's Ash Heap," tomorrow and Friday. It is a gem and you should read it and study it.

Then there were also many other stars—but one star different from another star.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley disappointed his audience's expectations simply because he did not tell them more about his great fight for Pure Food. But Dr. Wiley is a big man from every angle and we trust he may be with us next year.

Then Ferrullo's magnificent band in its Sunday concert was thought by many to have been the best feature of the big show.

The Ziegler-Howe orchestra Club. "Mother" Lake. The Collegian Male Quartet. Mary Agnes Doyle.

Dr. Edward A. Steiner. The Kickbush-Reuter Co. Dr. Ernest Wray O'Neal. The Ben Greet Players. The Oratorio Artists.

Hon. Clifford G. Roe. Miss Vivian Dittéau. Dr. Nellis. Musical Novelty Entertainers. The Floys, Magicians.

The Edwin R. Weeks Co. And last but not least, Superintendent H. C. Heffner, with his handsome and pleasing personality, (but he's married and has a wife and four kids,) who handed out a dozen or two bouquets to Maysville and Maysvillians.

Mr. Heffner declared he was delighted with our little city, its people and Kentucky hospitality, and—the cooking "He is nice" and all liked him as a first class chautauqua ringmaster. He must come again.

OPINIONS ABOUT MITCHELL AND JOB.

A most excellent address was delivered at the mass meeting for men at the Columbia Theater yesterday afternoon.

by C. C. Mitchell. The subject of his address was "Job, or the World's Ash Heap." The lecture was especially strong. Mr. Mitchell is an able orator and presented his subject in the most attractive way.—The State, Columbia, South Carolina.

I am willing to go on record that in my judgment his lecture "Job's Twin Brother," is a masterpiece. Keen in analysis, well-nigh faultless in diction, profound, yet simple; it appeals to all that is highest in human nature; and, without preaching, leaves a splendid moral and spiritual impression. May he live long and give this lecture to a mighty host of his fellow beings!

WILLIAM R. WOOD, Cutts Ave. Free Baptist Church, Saco, Maine.

Our men thoroughly enjoyed your recent address on Job's Twin Brother. I congratulate you on your ability to interpret the story of this great Biblical character. I hope you will have frequent opportunity for presenting your message, which is at once interesting and profitable. With kind regards,

Sincerely,
L. E. HAWKINS, Gen. Sec., Providence, R. I.

To whom it May Concern:

Rev. C. C. Mitchell delivered his lecture on "Job's Twin Brother" in our Y. M. C. A. Sunday Course, October 22, before an audience of nearly five hundred men. Such an audience of men was a tribute to the speaker in his home city but there was a reason. Three years ago Rev. Mitchell gave the Ash Heap lecture and men remembered. This new lecture is given with all of the earnestness and eloquence of the first lecture. It is a message from a man with a vision. It grips men and that is the test.

G. H. PEABODY, Pawtucket, R. I.

Mr. Eric Blind, who played the role of Petruchio with the Ben Greet Players at the Chautauqua Friday night is acknowledged by New York critics to be the finest Petruchio of the present day. While here, Mr. Blind was the guest of Mr. Roy O. Porter, on West Fourth street, both being members of Miss Anglin's Shakespearean Co., the past season.

A most interesting feature in connection with the Chautauqua was the children's work done by Miss Dittéau.

Miss Dittéau is intensely interested in her work, both in her morning games and her afternoon story hour. She sees a positive educational value in games which quicken sense perceptions, bring out latent qualities in some children and subdue the overforwardness of others, so that all may learn to cooperate. The story-telling movement is sweeping over the country. People are seeing how much may be accomplished through the story. Miss Dittéau feels that her work is not alone to instruct—to teach facts, but to reach deeply into the hidden nature of the child and to plant there joy and true standards of things.

Miss Vivian Dittéau is a graduate of the North Western Missouri University and Columbia College of Expression, the children's entertainer and friend. She has a pet hobby. It is "Story Telling". In her quaint way she wins the heart of both parent and teacher.

FLIES FEAR ELECTRIC FANS

About the only thing a fly or mosquito is afraid of is an electric fan.

While it is not known why these little pests fear the whirling blades, it is certain, however, that an Electric Fan will keep flies off the windows and show cases, and from the candy, vegetables and other foodstuff exposed for sale, even though the breeze is not allowed to play over the places or goods to be protected. Merchants find the Electric Fan invaluable for keeping flies out of their stores. If a fan is placed near the main entrance to the store, so that the air current flows toward the doorway, very few flies will enter.

The fly, that deadliest of household pests, likes stagnant air and hot, stuffy rooms. It takes no comfort and lingers not where Electric Fans constantly and vigorously allow clean, pure, cool air to abundantly circulate in every nook and corner.
